ENCAMPMENT NOTES

Leaves From the Editor's Diary.

Monday—Reached San Francisco at 11:30 last night.

Had telegraphed to several parties for rooms and wondered how I could make excuses if they all met me at the wharf at once.

Reached Palace Hotel without meeting anybody and attempted to register along with two aunts.

Clerk said if I wanted to appear on the register in the morning papers there would be no objection but the house was full.

Went out and registered at Grand Occidental, Cosmopolitan and Lick.

Went to lodging house on Kearney street, tried the Market street gorges.

Tackled Valencia, Minna and Eddie.

Didn't find any of them at home.

Reached Arthur M. Ewen's residence No 1742 Bush. Gate locked. Tried to climb over. Climbed back leaving portion of pants in possession of bull dog.

Returned to hotel and found aunts routed out of parlor to make room for 47th Pennsylvania volunteers who were assigned to cots on the floor.

Retreated to parlor of Grand and again bounced.

Mr. Thorn suggested lee side of hotel on sidewalk.

Secured rooms of old fat Spanish woman at 3:30 last suite in town.

Tuesday—Rose at 6, and started out to hunt eligible position to view grand parade.

Found window in lawyer's office and placed ladies therein.

Routed out at 10:30 for parties who had purchased location for $35.

On leaving remarked that I should hunt a double window for $50. didn't hunt it, however.

Hadn't lost any such window.

Asked an Old Pioneer to climb up on the top of Pioneer Hill and give me his impressions of the parade.

Found out that I had been addressing Governor Stoneman.

Chatted about the extra session.

Said he didn't know it was loaded.

Didn't see the parade on account of the crowd.

Couldn't find anybody who had saw fireworks at night in spite of the crowd.

Fire broke out on Market street at 10:15.

Man in crowd gathered up some old lumber, made two tiers of seats, and sold them for two dollars cash, telling the victims that it was camp-fire in honor of John Logan.

Went to Press Headquarters and found Sheean, Burk, Irish, Pixley, Jackson and Mark Boruck.

Ordered champagne for the party. [It was free.]

Topic of conversation for the evening, "The Incurability of the Press."

Boruck began to order wine.

Wednesday—Woke this morning with swelled head.

Went to Press Headquarters and borrowed wet towel of Boruck to wear in hat during day.

Committee of Arrangements ordered one gross of towels for journalists during Encampment.

Called at Palace Hotel and offered to run for compromise candidate for Senator of Nevada.

Application placed on file with night Clerk.

Borrowed Connecticut badge of Charlie Stoddard and wore it one day.

Quit because of discovery that people with big badges were charged double for bit drinks, likewise meals.

Thursday—Met number of Marysvillians who came down on a barge.

Dunned twice. Stood 'em off twice.

Asked brass band to escort me up Market street and send bill to Press Headquarters.

Enjoyed music and escort very much.

Called at Press Headquarters in evening and again set up the wine.

Bill of $200 for band music considered by Committee at night.

Bill tabled for further information.

Information hard to get.

Friday—Awoke tired, but got up.

Tried to make some political combinations at Palace. Captured six counties.

Bought tickets for Margarite Mather.

Couldn't get in.

Called at Press Headquarters and ordered more wine.

Bill of brass band considered in Executive session.

Tabled for further information.

Information not close to reach.

Saturday—Stayed at Press Headquarters all day. Too fatigued to get away.

Sunday—Think of going home, having just recovered grip sack from Railroad Company.

ALL SORTS.

—The G. A. R. tourists are gradually getting back home.

—George Clark's nag won the race at Sweeney's on Sunday.

—The Democratic primaries will be held in Storey on Wednesday.

—Frank Metcalough and family returned from San Francisco yesterday.

—It is generally conceded that Adams will not carry the Ormsby primaries.

—Dr. Lee, who is an old friend of Logan, will have charge of the reception here.

—Wilbur F. Storey's contested will has been admitted to probate. It gives the Chicago Times to the widow.

—A squaw was terribly beaten by a buck in the North end of the city yesterday. The buck was arrested.

—The editor of the APPEAL returned home yesterday from the G. A. R. Encampment. The composers all agree that he needed rest.

—The Custert Post headquarters at the Windsor House in San Francisco was crowded throughout the Encampment. Thousands came to get sagebrush to wear in their coat lappels.

—Senator Stanford has sent to the German Land and Cattle Co. a quantity of seeds for distribution, which will be sent, free of charge, to any one applying for them. Address, German Land and Cattle Co., 123 California street, San Francisco, Cal.

—For its soothing and grateful influence on the scalp, and for the removal and prevention of dandruff, Ayer's Hair Vigor has no equal. It restores faded or gray hair to its original dark color, stimulates the growth of the hair, and gives it a beautiful, soft, glossy and silken appearance.

—Ayer's Sarsaparilla is designed for those who need a medicine to purify their blood, build them up, increase their appetite and rejuvenate their whole system. No other preparation so well meets this want. It touches the exact spot. Its record of forty years is one of constant triumph over disease.

ANOTHER SILVER BUGBEAR

The statement wired that the cause of the last few days decline in silver is due to the want of knowledge of what Lord Salisbury's policy toward India will be, is one of the oldest of chestnuts. Before the resumption of specie payments, for years the Wall Street sharpers daily tossed gold up and down on rumors of their own manufacturing. So the thieves of Threadneedle Street are doing now. They persist in treating silver money as a commodity merely; as though a little stagnation in the market would cause it to fail as if it were vegetables or bull-butter. The idea that silver is a precious metal, the very life blood of commerce, and so rare that the world needs every grain of it, they steadily ignore and hire their organs to ignore it, and go on with their gambling. And our Congress, with eyes darkening go on with adjournment, and do nothing, though their duty is as plain as any demonstration of geometry. More than 92 per cent. of all our trade is domestic trade. We need above all things a stable money. The gold in the country is not enough by a thousand millions of dollars to do business with. The present gold product is absorbed in the arts. To make up the deficiency we have greenbacks, national bank notes and other devices. There could be no better money than silver certificates backed by silver, dollar for dollar, in the Treasury. If we would but use our own silver product it would supply the need, and would not over supply it, for the annual product does not keep up with the demand for new money. That plan adopted and adhered to would leave Europe where she was before our silver mines were discovered. She needs $250,000,000 per annum more than she gets from all the mines of the world outside of our own mine. She has no silver except such as is coined at the rate of 15 to one of gold. In the face of that our Government compels our miners to send their bullion to London, to let the sharpers there fix the price upon it. It does, it too, at the expense of every industry of the Republic. The farmers and planters are making nothing. Every one complains of the depression, but the eyes of those in authority will not see one the chief causes, and even persist in charging that the hard times are caused because the Government purchases $2,000,000 worth of silver monthly. The outlook is not good, except in the prospect that the business men of the East will finally awaken to the real facts and compel a re-adjustment on the basis of justice. If this matter can be strongly put before Congress and the country when Congress again meets, it can be reached. The New York Sun is on the right track now; the press West of the Alleghenies is generally sound; it is a face-to-face contest between the working capital and the fixed capital of the country, and when it is once thoroughly understood the result will be quickly reached. A small minority, backed with plenty of means and a powerful press, is fighting the great majority of workers of the land. The minority has thus far transferred twenty seven per cent. of the property of the majority to their own pockets. Revolution waits only a little behind such robbery as that.—Salt Lake Tribune.

Letter from Sacramento.

TO THE EDITOR:

The Capital City of California presents many interesting sights, but few are more so than the store of Weinstock & Lubin. The history of their business reads almost like a romance. Started in a miniature store, with a capital of but a few hundred dollars, and in the face of strong competition, it has, in eleven years, increased the extent of its ground floor area more than a hundred fold, the number of its clerks from one to one hundred and fifty and sixty; has completely outstripped its rivals, and is now one of the largest general retail stores in the United States.

Long ago people predicted that on account of its already large business, that further growth was impossible. But it has grown, and it is growing. Indeed, the recent increase in its business has been larger proportionally than for a number of years. This undoubtedly, is because time has solidified and perfected its organization, added to its experience, and proven to the people that its principles are as steady and fixed as they are just.

In a newspaper, now worn and dingy with age, we find the germ of these principles aptly stated in one of the store announcements: "We aim to treat our customers as we would wish to be treated if we were in their place." How much this has meant to the millions who have dealt with the store since it was started, or how much it continues to mean to-day, no one can tell who has never given it a personal trial.

Even in distant states and territories people can be found who have never visited Sacramento, but whose confidence in this House and in the superiority of its goods CAN'T BE SHAKEN. They know by experience what they think or speak.

One almost feels that with such a brilliant record, a House like this would rest content. Not so, there is still work to be done—there is still chance to provide the people of the Pacific Coast with better goods than, as a whole, they now get—still room to lower the prices they pay. What store so fit to undertake the work as this store? AND IT PROPOSES TO DO IT. In fact, it is doing it.

Even distant merchants feel the potency of its influence. It is an interesting and suggestive fact, that there are many people who have never heard of this Store, but who to-day are being served by local dealers better and truer, than they would be, but for its existence. In a word, public opinion is being slowly revolutionized as to the treatment in justice due from dealer to customer.

While the Store is thus accomplishing much indirectly, it is in direct work that its principles and methods shine brightest. It stands at all times as ready to serve the wants, perchance, of the distant widow, who may send for twenty-five cents worth of goods, as it does the banker or capitalist who enters its doors to spend hundreds of dollars. Neither favor, affection patronage or friendship, can influence the determination to treat all customers alike.

Furthermore, people know that in sending to Weinstock & Lubin, Sacramento, who deal direct with the leading manufacturers of Europe and America—that they get the benefit of latest styles and fashions—and prices as low and lower than those of other dealers.

There is hardly anything which this House does not keep—from a toothpick to a bridal outfit. Dry Goods, Clothing, Millinery, Shoes, Hats, Notions, etc., all command its earnest attention. A large Illustrated Catalogue of its goods, prices etc., is sent free to any address.

Facts are but food for reflection. The lesson they teach in this case is plain. DO NOT REMAIN UNACQUAINTED WITH THE ADVANTAGES PRESENTED BY THIS STORE.
